

Richard Kitching

I am proud to be the current Headteacher of Egginton Primary School and also a member of the Governing Body. I passionately believe in the vital role that small village primary schools can play in providing a broad and enriching education for children and I strongly believe in the values and ethos that we uphold at Egginton.

Prior to joining Egginton in January 2017, I worked in a range of primary schools in different contexts across Staffordshire. I have held a variety of different leadership posts and taught pupils across the primary age range. I believe that this previous experience has helped to effectively prepare me for my current role as Headteacher.

It is a privilege to serve such a supportive community and I look forward to continuing to work alongside staff, parents and governors to ensure our wonderful pupils can fulfil their potential at Egginton and 'be all that they can be'.
